REPORT OF TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

The letters of inquiry in regard to the Training School have increased from 793 last year to 905. There were 34 applications for postgraduate work and three graduates of German and Dutch schools of nursing have requested the privilege of spending several months in the wards of this Hospital during the coming year. Two of our own graduates came to take the two months' postgraduate course in surgical work, but neither of them remained the full time.

There were 62 probationers admitted, 56 for the three years' course, and 41 of this number were accepted as pupils of the school. The other six were graduates of the McLean Hospital Training School; five were accepted for the thirteen months' course; one withdrew because of illness in her family. One pupil was dismissed for cause during the year and one was asked to withdraw. The number who completed the three years' course and graduated was 23. Eleven graduates of the McLean Hospital completed the thirteen months' course. Three others were prevented by serious illness from finishing their course. Fourteen pupils of the Children's Hospital completed the four months of ward duty. Twelve of the pupils had long illnesses; three were cases of typhoid fever and nine were contagious diseases. All made good recoveries.

The demand for our graduates to fill positions grows steadily and is far greater than can be met. The positions offered last year numbered 65. There were many requests for practical teachers of nursing methods, for district and school nurses, and for social workers, in addition to the usual calls for superintendents of small hospitals and of training schools. Almost invariably graduates of experience have been asked for. The six months' course in institution management, recently established in the Hospital, meets the need of providing training and experience for those who would become hospital superintendents.

Although the school shows larger numbers, it is still impossible to supply nurses for some departments where their services are needed. Consequently we have made an arrangement with the New England Baptist Hospital for one year to receive one pupil at a time for two months who shall assist at the clinics in the Men's Surgical room in the Out-Patient Department during forenoons and in the Accident Ward afternoons. This pupil has the privilege of attending the lectures which are given to our pupils. At the request of the superintendent of the Melrose Hospital, it has been decided to receive the senior pupils from that hospital for two months' general ward duty.

By mutual agreement the plan of receiving pupil nurses from the McLean Hospital for eight months' training has been given up. Twelve pupils entered and ten of the number completed the course.

In January the number of assistant superintendents of the Training School was increased from two to three, and Miss Jessie E. Grant was appointed to the position. During the year we lost two important members of the school staff who had given us many years of most efficient service. In May Miss Frances A. Chandler, the second assistant superintendent of the Training School, resigned to become superintendent of a hospital; and in October Miss Nellie J.

Hart, the night superintendent, resigned to be married. They were succeeded by Miss Frances C. Daily and Miss Elizabeth M. Jamieson.

The surgical instructor appointed for the year was Dr. Robert M. Green. The preparatory course for pupils at Simmons College has been offered us for three years' trial without fees ; this year the Hospital Trustees have generously undertaken the payment of a tuition fee of $50 for each pupil.

The supervision and instruction of pupils who are on duty as special nurses is continued by Miss Margaret Lea, who also is head nurse of Ward B. The special duty of pupils increased to 1,026 days last year. The Surgical Out-Patient Clinic for women and the Hydrotherapy are now in charge of Miss Margaret K. Smith.

In July a graduate of this school, Miss Alice O. Tippet, was appointed executive assistant ; her duties consist in cooperating with the Ladies' Visiting Committee and in finding suitable places in homes or institutions for the ward patients who need such provision when they are discharged from the Hospital.

Our thanks are again offered to the ladies of the Advisory Committee whose visits to the nurses, both on duty in the ward and during illness, have been most welcome. They have also remembered us generously with tickets for concerts and entertainments throughout the year.

The present Training School Staff is as follows :

Superintendent	1
Assistant Superintendents	3
Night Superintendent	1
Graduate Head Nurses	20
Postgraduate Pupils	3
Pupils, Class of 1909	25
Pupils, Class of 1910	35

Pupils, Class of 1911	30
McLean Hospital Graduates	6
McLean Hospital Pupils	1
Probationers	2
Pupils in Preparatory Course	10
Total	137

Special Instruction :

Diet Kitchen	Miss E. Grace McCullough.
Massage	Miss S. May Taylor.

Respectfully submitted,

PAULINE L. DOLLIVER,

Superintendent Training School.

SURGICAL INSTRUCTION.

GIVEN BY ROBERT M. GREEN, M.D.

The surgical teaching covers the first two years of the course in the Training School. During the first year instruction is given in the following subjects:

Bandaging.
Anatomy.
Biology.
Bacteriology.
Pathology.

The method of instruction is by weekly lectures, at which the nurses are expected to take notes and of which they are required periodically to prepare abstracts, by demonstrations and recitations, and by assigned reading in a text-book.

The attempt is made to have the lectures simple and informal, to encourage the asking of questions by the class, to emphasize always the practical importance to surgical nursing of the subject under study.

There are two written examinations during the course.

BANDAGING.

The instruction is given to small sections of the class once a week. After consideration of the manufacture, economy, and indications for bandages, the fundamental figures of bandaging are taught, followed by detailed instruction in the common bandages used for the several regions of the body. By the use of artificial legs and of patients from the wards, each nurse has opportunity to apply the various bandages under the individual direction of the instructor. The application of swathes and the preparation of the ordinary splints is demonstrated by the instructor or by one of the head nurses.

ANATOMY.

The normal anatomy of the adult human body is considered under the following topics:

The skeleton (bones and joints).
Muscles, fascia, and skin (with its appendages).
The alimentary system.
The respiratory system.
The cardio-vascular and lymphatic systems.
The genito-urinary system.
The nervous system.
The organs of special sense.

In connection with the gross anatomy under each of these topics is taught the elementary histology of the tissues in question and the attempt is made to correlate this instruction with that given in physiology. Especial attention is paid to surface anatomy, not only to bony landmarks in relation to fractures and measurements but to the location of the large blood vessels with reference to the control of hemorrhage. The lectures are illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, microscopic sections, the manikin, fresh organs from autopsy, and demonstrations on the living subject. Particular emphasis is laid on the relations of the male and female pelvis with regard to the use of the catheter and the rectal tube. In general, the practical rather than the academic aspects of the subject are made prominent.

BIOLOGY.

The primary concepts of vegetable and animal life are briefly considered, and the relation of lower organisms to human disease. The cellular theory is explained, and the normal development of the human embryo outlined.

BACTERIOLOGY.

After a sketch of the development of the science of bacteriology and the enormous importance of its discoveries to medicine and surgery, the nature, action, and growth of bacteria are described and the methods of identifying and cultivating them studied. By means of material from the hospital laboratories are demonstrated the cultural and microscopic characteristics of all the common surgical bacteria, and in connection with each is taught the mode of action by which it produces disease.

Great emphasis is laid on the practical application of bacteriology to the treatment and the prevention of disease. The history and evolution of antisepsis and asepsis are sketched, methods of sterilization described at length, and the duties of a nurse at a surgical operation explained. Instruction is given in methods of avoiding infection, both for the nurse and for the patient, and in its prompt recognition and treatment. The elementary principles of immunity and of the use of bacterial vaccines are outlined.

PATHOLOGY.

In connection with the study of the various bacteria is taught the elementary pathology of the lesions produced by each. The nature of inflammation is explained, and the repair of tissues and the healing of wounds studied.

During the second year instruction is given in surgical anesthesia and in the surgical diseases. The method is similar to that of the first year — by weekly lectures, notes, abstracts, demonstrations, recitations, and two written examinations. Emphasis is laid on the practical application of the knowledge gained to the immediate care and subsequent nursing of surgical cases.

ANESTHESIA.

A lecture is given to the class on the fundamental principles of surgical anesthesia and the methods of its production. During the year each nurse then receives at least twice individual instruction in the actual administration of ether to patients for surgical operation, and is also taught the manufacture of cones and the care of ether patients.

SURGICAL DISEASE.

All the important surgical diseases are considered in detail, under the following groups:

Trauma.
Malformations.
Neoplasms.
Infections.

In the discussion of each disease are presented its causes, nature, symptoms, recognition, and immediate treatment. The subjects are abundantly illustrated by lantern slides, pathologic specimens, and patients from the wards. So far as possible the case method of teaching is employed. Attention is also paid to diseases on the border line between medicine and surgery. The aim is to familiarize the nurse with the common appearances of disease, to fit her by this knowledge to care intelligently for the sick, and to prepare her to act promptly and efficiently in emergencies.

MEDICAL INSTRUCTION.

GIVEN BY GEORGE S. C. BADGER, M.D.

The present method of teaching has been in force for several years, and is proving very satisfactory. The work is carried on as follows:

During the first five months physiology alone is taught by lectures and quizzes, supplemented with the use of the reflector-scope. A knowledge of the fundamentals of physiology is essential and must be acquired before other instruction can advantageously be given. A few nurses receive their instruction in physiology at Simmons College, but the majority must receive it while giving their services in the wards. The latter are at a disadvantage because often too tired to give their concentrated attention to a lecture after a day's work. Following the course in physiology are two lectures on hygiene.

In the second half of the first year the nurses are taken into the medical wards in sections of twenty, where once a week for a year a medical clinic is held. These ward visits are by far the most interesting and profitable part of the course. In spite of the fact that the nurses are constantly with the patients, it is found that systematic instruction in the observation of patients and diseases and the results of treatment are very much needed and appreciated. Much time is devoted to diseases of the circulatory, respiratory, digestive, and excretory organs, and to typhoid fever. The subject matter of lectures is apt to be soon forgotten, while the mental pictures of actual disease conditions seen at the bedsides are retained. The progress of diseases is watched, the results of treatment noted.

The last half of the second year is taken up with lectures on therapeutics, and certain diseases not seen in the open wards, as the exanthemata and tuberculosis.

It is apparent with this system of instruction that the nurses have become better clinical observers and more intelligent and enthusiastic workers.

The outline of the two years' course is as follows:

First half of first year:

Physiology, fourteen lectures with demonstrations, quizzes, and examination.
Hygiene, two lectures.

Second half of first year and first half of second year:

Clinical medicine, ward visits.

Last half of second year:

Lectures on Therapeutics, The Exanthemata, Tuberculosis.

NURSING.

Course Given to Probationers by Demonstrations.

Care of refrigerators and water coolers.
Sweeping and dusting.

Beds and bedmaking:

Care of linen.
Disinfection of beds, linen, etc.

Care of bed patients:

Bathing and care of skin, mouth, teeth, head, hands, and feet.
Filling and applying ice-caps and hot water bottles.
Application of abdominal swathes.

Reception and care of new patients.

Observing and reporting symptoms.
Charting — temperature, pulse, respiration.
Food — medication.

Enemeta: Uses. Methods.
Douches — Catheterization.
Surgical Dressings.
Surgical Supplies.
Sterilizing Instruments.

Subsequent Instruction by Lectures, Recitations, and Demonstrations.

Ethics: Relation of pupil { to Hospital. / to Training School. / to Patients.

Care of Hospital Property.
Care of Patients' Property.
Ward Supplies.
Hygiene: Personal. Ward.
External Applications.
The Urine.
Nursing in typhoid fever cases, in diseases of the lungs, heart, kidneys. Rheumatism.
Nursing of contagious diseases.
Nursing of sick children and infants.
Nursing in nervous diseases.
Obstetrical nursing.
Gynæcological nursing.
Emergency cases. Fractures.
Assisting at operations: sterilization: uses of disinfectants: the uses, care, and repair of instruments and utensils.
Care of the dead.
Private nursing.

THE MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses in Boston has made arrangements for giving a three years' course of training to women who desire to learn the art of nursing the sick.

Letters of application to the Superintendent of the Training School should contain a brief personal history, and should be accompanied by a statement from a physician testifying to sound health and unimpaired faculties. Applicants must be between twenty-one and thirty-five years of age, and of at least average height and weight.

A high school education or its equivalent is required, and applicants should be prepared to show school diplomas or certificates as an aid in determining the amount of education they have received.

The Superintendent of the Training School and the Resident Physician of the Hospital decide as to the acceptability of candidates. The class is formed during the spring and summer months, but application should be made at least six months in advance. If approved, applicants are received for a period of two months' probation, and during this time they should be prepared for an examination in reading, English dictation, and simple arithmetic. The Superintendent of the Training School will decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them.

Those who prove satisfactory are accepted, and become pupils of the School on signing an agreement to remain thirty-four months, after the period of probation, and to obey faithfully the rules of the Hospital and of the School.

During the first twelve months the record of the pupil is carefully considered, and if found unsatisfactory or unpromising, the Superintendent of the Training School can drop the pupil from the School. She may, at any subsequent time, suspend, and with the approval of the Resident Physician and the Training School Committee, dismiss a pupil for misconduct, inefficiency, or neglect of duty.

Except under special circumstances, failure to pass the examinations will be sufficient cause for terminating a pupil's connection with the School.

Pupils reside in the Home, and act as assistants in the various departments of the Hospital. They are expected to perform any duty assigned them by the Superintendent of the Training School.

The hours of duty are from 7 A.M. to 7 P.M.

A vacation of three weeks is given each year.

In sickness, the pupils are cared for gratuitously, but all time so lost must be made up.

As the school is unsectarian, there are no religious services connected with it; but all pupils are expected to attend the places of worship they prefer once on Sunday.

An allowance of $6.00 per month, exclusive of the months of probation, is made to defray the necessary expenses of uniforms and text-books.

Pupils receive board, lodging, and a limited amount of laundry work.

Pupils should come prepared to pay at the close of the period of probation for their uniforms and text-books, the cost of which will not exceed fifteen dollars.

A regular course of lectures, recitations, and demonstrations is given, with examinations at stated periods. Instruction is also given at the bedside of patients by the visiting and resident physicians and surgeons.

The course includes three months' special training in obstetrics, three months in private nursing at the Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline, and one month district nursing with the Instructive District Nursing Association.

For those who desire it a preparatory course of four months is offered at Simmons College devoted to the study of the following subjects:

Household Arts.
Chemistry.
Bacteriology.
Anatomy.
Physiology.

When the full term of training is completed, after passing the examinations, the nurse receives the diploma of the School, and is at liberty to choose her own field of labor, either in hospital or district work, or in private families. As it is believed that an annual report of the addresses and positions of the graduates of the School will be for the advantage of the nurses as well as the School, the graduates are requested to send their addresses to the Superintendent of the Training School on or before December first of each year.

A graduate of this School who wishes to gain special proficiency in the care of nervous and mental cases has the privilege, under certain restrictions, of entering the McLean Hospital Training School for Nurses. Such graduates will, after one year's satisfactory study, receive the diploma from that School in addition to the one received from the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses.

Personal application may be made to the Superintendent of the Training School, Wednesday mornings, between 10 and 12 o'clock.

Postgraduate Course.

A two months' Postgraduate Course is open to the graduates of this Training School. The course consists of two months' surgical work, or of two months' medical work, or of one month each of medical and surgical work, as the graduate prefers.

Students must provide themselves with the uniform of the School. They live outside the Hospital, pay no fee, and receive no pay for this course. Their hours of duty conform to those of the pupils of the School, and they act as assistants in the wards.

Those who wish to take this course should apply to the Superintendent of the Training School, and state definitely what experience they wish to have, and the time when they could most conveniently take the course.

During the summer months there would be more openings for graduates, but, so far as possible, appointments will be made to suit the convenience of the applicants.
